COAL INDUSTRY OF B.C. SHOWS GAINS IN CURRENT OUTPUT

Production of Province Increases Twenty-six Per Cent in First Quarter

Island Mines Register Big Advance
Over Figures of Previous Year

Coal production of the collieries of British Columbia in the first quarter of the present year shows an increase over that for the corresponding quarter in 1926 of 124,764 long tons, according to returns received by the Provincial Department of Mines and issued to-day by authority of Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines. Demand has been showing a satisfactory increase for the past three months and is steadily improving, reports to the Department indicate.

The total output for the three months ended March 31 was reported at 559,187 long tons, compared with 535,423 in the first three months last year, an increase of approximately twenty-four per cent.

Vancouver Island collieries, which last year were running behind the previous year in output, have shown a decided increase in production, the figures for the first quarter of 1927 having been 153,349 long tons as against 121,143 in 1926, or 26.7 per cent. The Crown's West Pass collieries also show a gain amounting to 46,892 tons, and in the Nicola-Princeton district the gain was 7,410 tons.

Coke production is falling off from last year of 4,899 tons.

Ltd., Victoria contractors, have been awarded the contract for the construction of the fine new garage building on Yates Street, for the National Motor Company Limited, local Ford dealers, according to an announcement made this morning by Ralph Berrill, A.R.I.B.A. Parfitt Brothers will carry out the general construction work. LEAGUE INVITATION IS NOT REPEATED

But Russian Delegates Free
to Attend Economic Conference at Geneva

Geneva, April 25.—The League of Nations has definitely decided, despite the recent settlement of a long standing controversy between Switzerland and Russia, not to issue a second invitation to Russia to participate in the forthcoming Economic Conference here. The first invitation was declined because the conference was to be held on Swiss soil.

Responding to numerous inquiries, the League issued an official statement saying it was for Soviet Russia to say whether the impediment to Russia participation in League meetings was not removed.

"The League's position is clear," the statement said. "The invitation, sent by unanimous decision of the League Council, remains open and if the Russian delegates come they will be welcome the same as those of other nationalities."

5,000 LEAVE AREA BEFORE FLOOD COMES

People in Two Parishes Adjoining New Orleans Lose Their Homes

Gaps to be Made in Mississippi Levees To-morrow to Save City

New Orleans, La., April 28.—Five thousand residents of St. Bernard and Plaquemine Parishes in Louisiana were abandoning their homes to-day and carrying all their portable possessions to New Orleans under the menace of Mississippi flood waters to be loosed to-morrow by the deliberate breaking of their protecting levee.

The great crevasse, designed to sacrifice the two parishes in an attempt to save New Orleans from flood waters, will be created at noon to-morrow in a manner as yet undesignated by the engineers, who fear revelation of their plans might arouse troublesome resistance.

RESENTMENT IS BITTER

Although many of the parish residents received the official order of banishment from their homes with good grace, bitter resentment was apparent in the bearing of others. Many farmers and trappers patrolled the levee with the avowed intention of opposing any move to break it, despite assurances of city and state officials that complete reimbursement would be made for all damages. State militia and New Orleans police patrolled a levee above New Orleans to prevent an attempt to dynamite it and save the two parishes at the expense of flooding the city.

FLOOD CREST ADVANCES

Despite the spectacular phase of the lower Mississippi flood the crest of the waters still was far upstream. As the flood continued to spread over Arkansas and Louisiana, Ashley County, in the latter state, was inundated and 600 persons were driven to refuge in Hamburg. The exodus from McGee, most of which is under water, continued with the refugees at Monticello, the concentration point, numbering upwards of 5,000. Heavy loss of life at Benson, Miss., and its vicinity and plans were made for hurried relief work to-day.

EPIDEMICS FOUGHT

Epidemics were reported at fourteen refugee camps scattered over Arkansas where measles, mumps, whooping-cough, pellagra and malaria were prevalent and it was feared that the situation was becoming acute. Many of the refugees refused to be inoculated or vaccinated.

In that connection the state health authorities of the seven flood-damaged states were called to meet in Memphis to-day with Dr. William R. Redden, national medical officer of the Red Cross, to adopt a program of health conservation in the flooded regions.

GORDON C. HUTTON HELD IN WINNIPEG

Ontario Youth Who Broke Jail in Washington State
Arrested There

Port Orchard, Wash., April 28.—Advised to-day that Gordon C. Hutton, nineteen-year-old "baby-faced bandit" who broke jail here March 27, was in custody in Winnipeg, Minn., Sheriff John Stedman telegraphed to learn whether extradition would be waived.

The sheriff said that if Hutton should waive extradition, a Kitson and states would go after him, but that the course to pursue if extradition should be required had not been considered.

Hutton, is stated to have been recognized by a police description by a detective in Winnipeg.

When arrested in Port Orchard for breaking into a house he was already charged with having entered the United States from Port Orchard, Wash., and with having driven three stolen automobiles across state lines.

Hutton left himself out of his cell in the county jail in the night, using a key he had made from part of a mouth organ. He was reported to have fled both by way of Seattle and Port Angeles. The former story was based on a youth paying to Alki Point in the night. The Port Angeles tale rested upon the burglary of a store at Silverdale, twelve miles north of Port Orchard, and appearance of an innocent-looking youth on the Strait of Juan de Fuca opposite Victoria, B.C.

IN WINNIPEG COURT

Winnipeg, April 28.—Gordon C. Hutton, alleged "baby-faced bandit," appeared in police court here to-day and was remanded until Monday on a charge of stealing an automobile.

Hutton has been identified as the man wanted at Port Orchard, Wash., on a charge of attempted murder, perjury and grand larceny.

LIVED AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, April 28.—G. C. Hutton, held at Winnipeg police headquarters charged with the theft of an automobile and claimed to be the "baby-faced" bandit of Port Orchard, Wash., lived in this vicinity for the greater part of his nineteen years. He was the man wanted at Port Orchard, Wash., on a charge of attempted murder, perjury and grand larceny.

Responding to numerous inquiries, the League issued an official statement saying it was for Soviet Russia to say whether the impediment to Russia participation in League meetings was not removed.

"The League's position is clear," the statement said. "The invitation, sent by unanimous decision of the League Council, remains open and if the Russian delegates come they will be welcome the same as those of other nationalities."

PLANS JOURNEY TO HUDSON BAY PORTS; HON. C. A. DUNNING

F. Christensen, Patrolling at Smith's Inlet, Arrested and Sent to Vancouver

Commissioner McKenzie,
Holding Inquiry, Says Evidence Disclosed Irregularities

Prince Rupert, April 28.—Before the commission inquiring into charges of illegal fishing in British Columbia waters, which has recently conducted hearings at various points along the northern coast, commenced its sitting here this morning, Commissioner D. McKenzie announced that Fred Christensen, patrol officer at Smith's Inlet, had been arrested and would be taken to Vancouver on the commission's steamer Malaspina, would sail for the south to-night.

Commissioner McKenzie said evidence so far gathered by the commission all tended to support the allegation that irregular operations had been general at a certain lagoon in Smith's Inlet, it having been testified that as many as 1,900 fish were taken last summer in one night's "raid."

He said the charge against Christensen was that he had accepted bribes for permitting illegal fishing.

Announcement of his intention to make the trip was made by Premier Gardiner yesterday just before he left for the United States, where he is to address several Kiwanis Club meetings in celebration of the long journey he will be made over the Hudson Bay line and from the end of its steel, mostly by canoe, to Port Nelson, from where a voyage to Port Nelson will be made.

TO STUDY RAIL CONDITIONS

The purpose of the trip to Hudson Bay is to study conditions for the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway to a terminus on the Bay. The journey will be made over the Hudson Bay line and from the end of its steel, mostly by canoe, to Port Nelson, from where a voyage to Port Nelson will be made.

AIR SURVEY

Ottawa, April 28.—The Hudson Strait Air Survey Expedition will set out from Halifax on board the Canadian Government ship Stanley early in July, it was learned here to-day.

For the following fifteen months the Royal Canadian Air Force detachment will be engaged upon one of the most intensive and hazardous flying jobs ever undertaken in the north, it is stated. The flights across the Pole will be brilliant feats, but they will be in the nature of short dashes, involving some hours of endurance. The Royal Canadian Air Force will require fifteen months of day and night flying under all kinds of Arctic weather conditions, for the purpose of observing fog and ice conditions.

PLANE REACHES OTTAWA

One of the first of the six Fokker planes to be used on the expedition arrived in Ottawa to-day from New York and the others will be brought up soon by air force pilots. During the early summer they will be put through severe tests and conditioned for the work in the north. Nearly fifty officers and men will be engaged in the work.

The Stanley plane was packed on board the Stanley along with a vast amount of material, including all the food and clothing, fuel and building materials needed.

Those Arrested When Soviet Embassy Raided Were Put to Death

Peking, April 28.—Twenty Chinese communists, including a woman, arrested in the recent raid by the Northern Chinese authorities on buildings attached to the Soviet Embassy here, were executed to-day by a military tribunal. A wireless dispatch said that in anticipation of trouble, eight three-inch field pieces had been set up near the Chinese Race Club, and that trenches had been prepared. It also was reported the Japanese had extended and made stronger the defences separating their concession from the native city.

FIGHTING NEAR KIUKIANG

Kiukiang, on the Yangtze River, about 120 miles southeast of Hankow, reports troops of General Chiang Kai-shek, commander of the Moderate faction of the Cantonese, are within twenty miles of Kiukiang and that fighting is going on. Kiukiang is giving shelter to a great many refugees from Hankow, who say residences in the native city of North American missionaries are being looted by troops.

The defeat of the Southerners in a battle with Northern troops moving from the Han River toward Peking is reported in a wireless message from Hankow.

TRAIN SERVICE STOPPED

All train service between Nanking and Cheuchow, on the Grand Canal, has been suspended by the Nationalist military authorities. The reason for this has not been explained.

The police report plain clothes and Nationalist troops broke up strikers' demonstrations at Kingwan, killing three strikers and wounding many. One hundred and fifty persons were arrested.

A. Nicholson and R. T. Moore to Stand Trial in Vancouver

Vancouver, April 28.—R. T. Moore and Angus Nicholson, charged with having murdered Marshall Douglas, an advertising man, in a hotel here on the morning of April 8, were committed to stand trial at the present criminal assizes, the order being made by Magistrate H. C. Shaw in police court this morning following the completion of the preliminary hearing.

B.C. EXPORTERS OF LIQUOR DENY THEY ARE QUITTING FIELD

Say They Have no Information Regarding Claim Made in Washington

U.S. Officials Said They Would Cease if no Prosecutions Taken

Washington, April 28.—An almost complete victory over rum smugglers off the west coast of the United States was claimed to-day by prohibition enforcement headquarters here with the announcement that Vancouver, British Columbia, which owned ten steamers under Canadian, Panama and Guatemalan registry had sought immunity from prosecution in return for abandonment of their activities.

VANCOUVER NOT INFORMED

Vancouver, April 28.—Liquor operators out of this port had no information to-day in regard to a Washington dispatch that immunity had been sought from prosecution in return for abandonment of their activities. At the office of the Consolidated Exporters' Corporation Limited it was stated the Washington report was unfounded so far as the Consolidated was concerned. The same conditions obtained at other liquor firms that own and operate vessels.

It was pointed out that had any such action been taken Vancouver firms would have had information, being vitally interested.

NEW PROTEST ON FEDERALSHIP MADE

U.S. Informed Panama Registry Not to be Cancelled Till Ship Released

Washington, April 28.—A further note protesting the seizure of the steamer Federalship, demanding its release and asserting its Panama nationality could not be cancelled by the Panama authorities until after its release was presented to the State Department to-day by Minister Alfaro of Panama.

An earlier dispatch ran as follows: Washington, April 28.—The United States Government is not expected to take any action on the request for release of the Federalship until it has a better understanding of the interpretation to be given by the United States Government to its law which requires cancellation of the registry of any ship habitually given to smuggling operations. The Panama Government in a note delivered yesterday to the United States Department here asked immediate release of the Federalship, which was captured 270 miles off the coast of California by United States Coast Guard cutters.

San Francisco dispatch yesterday said: The United States Attorney Hainfield to-day received a telegram from Washington, D.C., notifying him the Government would not appeal decision of the Federal District Court here declaring the seizure of the steamer Federalship, 270 miles off the California coast illegal.

Court action declared the message made it practically certain the Federalship and her $1,000,000 cargo of liquor would be released in a short time.

Federal officials here declined to free the vessel without word from Washington, even though the court had declared the seizure "abhorrent to the principles of justice" and dismissed the charges against the captain and crew.

Minimum Wage Board Awaiting McNiven's Return

Vancouver, April 28.—Absence of J. D. McNiven, Deputy Minister of Labor, has somewhat retarded the activities of the board, established by the Minimum Wage Act, it was stated to-day by T. F. Paterson, one of the commissioners.

McNiven is chairman of the board and has been away for some time on account of ill-health. While in the south, however, Mr. Paterson said the chairman had been studying the fruit packing industry with reference to the application of a minimum wage for pickers and packers.

It might be some time before any further orders were made by the board, said Mr. Paterson, as most of the industries now were paying forty cents an hour at least. Investigations were being continued, however, he said, a special inquiry having been made into the restaurant business recently and the members of the board were being urged to take action.

"These matters are very difficult to adjust," said Mr. Paterson, and it is our policy to move slowly rather than run the risk of disrupting conditions."

SHOCK-PROOF MAN

Sidney L. Wilson, City Wiring Inspector, whose display of "tamed lightning" at the fair is creating a good deal of incident, is a puzzle to a puzzled man to-day. Last night Arthur Shotbolt dipped his hand into the "Magic Bowl" and removed the quarter of the dollar which was his prize for the "tamed lightning" display.

Armed with rubber shoes, and other shock-proof devices, youngsters tried hard last night for the bait at the bottom of the bowl of electrically charged water, but without success. One little fellow had such faith in his rubber shoes that he boldly thrust his hand on the coin, only to be repulsed.

So that disappointment would not prove too severe Mr. Wilson reduced the current and more than one youngster got home happy in the possession of a bright silver quarter.

To-night at 7.30 the wiring inspector will use the radio to tell some of the mistakes fair patrons have committed to him after visiting the city's booth.

Last night the Y.M.C.A. athletic teams put on a forty-five minute programme that won rounds of hearty applause. Boxing, wrestling, tumbling and athletic exercises were shown in a fast and lively programme (Continued on page 3)

EARLY ELECTION NOT CONSIDERED PREMIER ASSETS

Reports published in Vancouver yesterday forecasting a general provincial election this summer are regarded as ridiculous at the Parliament Buildings. The Government has never considered an election this year and is not doing so now, Premier Oliver declared when questioned on the matter. "The reports of an election during the coming summer are wholly without foundation. I cannot imagine how they originated. Certainly they did not emanate from the Government."

C.N.R. LOAN TO BE RAISED IN NEW YORK

New York, April 28.—A $15,000,000 loan consisting of 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates will be floated here early next week for the Canadian National Railways. It is announced. The financing will be done by a syndicate which will be the first loan for the railway here since 1925. Proceeds will be used for the purchase of locomotives and cars.

Over 2,000 people passed through the doors of the Armories yesterday afternoon and evening, putting Citizens' Day into the lead for the best attendance ever recorded at the Home Products Exhibition. To-day is Scotch Day, with surprise programmes and Highland dancing and music in special programmes this afternoon and to-night.

The 16th Battalion, Canadian Scottish, Pipe Major Donald Cameron, and the Canadian Fraternities of the city are rallying to make to-day an outstanding one at the exhibition.

The ranks of fair patrons will be further swelled this evening by a massed attendance by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, 100 of whom under, Archie Muir, president, will proceed in a body to the Armories at 8 p.m. this evening.

The attendance at the Home Products Exhibition has been decided upon as a public expression of faith in the buy-at-home movement and in the success of the excellent displays in that connection. The Chamber of Commerce party will be received at the door by H. J. Hendry, chairman, and members of the Home Products Exhibition committee.

CANNERY OPERATORS OPPOSE SEINE MEN

Conflict Develops Between Fishing Bodies in Sound; Would Limit Seines

Seattle, April 28.—A new conflict, involving the state fisheries board, appeared to have developed today between the Sound seine men and the cannery operators.

The controversy centres around recent orders of the state fisheries board, which the purse seiners declare will reduce by fifty per cent their operations on the Sound.

More than two weeks ago, The Post-Intelligencer says, a petition asserting that it is no longer profitable to fish for salmon in Puget Sound in competition with purse seiners was presented to the state board by seven of the "big" trap operators and cannery owners of the district.

The order, adopted shortly after the presentation of the petition, reduces the legal length of purse seines used on the Sound from 1,900 to 1,500 feet and places a limit of 200, three and one-half inch meshes on the depth of the set. They had previously had no depth limit. In addition, the order prohibits the laying of a purse seine within 100 yards of any other fishing appliance.

The seiners declare they have enlisted the support of eleven independent canneries which are to buy their salmon.

Official publication of the new order has been delayed and they will not become effective until they are published.

The monthly general meeting of the Tuberculosis Veterans' Section of the British Empire Service League was held at the club premises, Yates and Langley, President Dave was in the chair. There was a good attendance of members. Matters of interest and importance to the welfare of the club were discussed and various committees to deal with the internal working of the section were formed. Further it was decided to hold a billiard tournament for members—four prizes to be given. Intending participants can obtain full particulars, either from the secretary or house committee, viz: Messrs. Kean, Whitlaw and Huxtable.

There must be a final upheaval, occultists declare, in which the earth has a frightful housecleaning, but after it there will be a period of splendid attainment.

In the purifying process to which world conditions must be subjected, individuals necessarily must suffer, it is pointed out, but they who have spiritual insight will be fortunate. Labor difficulties are foretold for next month in England where there will be much anxiety for the Government.

GOVERNMENT SOUGHT IN VAIN TO ELIMINATE WHISKY AGENTS LETTERS ON FILE PROVE

How the Provincial Government has sought to eliminate all agents' commissions from the purchase of liquor and how distilling firms have refused flatly to do business except through their recognized agents here is shown by a series of letters filed before Mr. Justice Morrison's Royal Commission on the Carlow charges yesterday. These letters are from distilling firms explaining that they cannot accept the proposal for the elimination of agencies laid before them on August 10, 1921, by James A. Paterson, Government Purchasing Agent.

Mr. Paterson's circular letter sent to all distillers with whom the Government was doing business, ran as follows:

Liquor Control Board, Victoria, B.C., August 10, 1921. Copy of circular letter sent to distillers and bottlers of proprietary brands:

Dear Sirs: In order that supplies for the Government of British Columbia may be bought at the lowest possible prices, it is the desire of the Liquor Control Board and myself to purchase liquor from distillers and bottlers of proprietary brands only direct, and thereby eliminate all commissions. I shall be obliged if you will advise me at your earliest convenience if you are prepared to accept orders and ship under these conditions.

Yours very truly, JAMES PATERSON, Purchasing Agent.

The replies of the distillers were as follows:

12 Torphichen Street, Edinburgh, November 7, 1921. James Paterson, Esq., Purchasing Agent, Liquor Control Board, Victoria, B.C.

We duly received your favour of 10th August last in regard to the Liquor Control Board desiring to purchase liquor from distillers and bottlers of proprietary brands only direct, and thereby eliminate all commissions.

Briefly, this means that you wish us to turn down our agents and hand over their commission to your Government. While sympathizing with you in your endeavor to obtain supplies at the lowest rates, we are afraid that we have honourable obligations to observe which preclude our lending ourselves to any such arrangement. We cannot forget the fact that our agents have been the instrument and means of introducing, fostering and maintaining the sale of our products in past years, and but for their good offices and unfailing energy then, it is possible that our brands might, at the moment, be comparatively unknown in British Columbia. State trade in liquor is a far-reaching experiment—an outcrop of the war—which may or may not prove successful, but we hardly see that this can be any real justification for our denying to our agents that just recompense to which they are entitled as our accredited and long established representatives in your Province.

We must, therefore, respectfully decline to quote prices or accept orders direct, which are conditional on our agents being excluded from all participation in the transaction.

Yours faithfully, For John Dewar & Sons, Limited, JOHN L. ANDERSON, Secretary.

GAUTHIER IN BOX TELLS OF ALLEGED DEALS IN LIQUOR

"Have you been in politics in British Columbia?" asked Mr. Cowan. "I have done my best," said Mr. Gauthier.

"For what party?"

"The Liberal Party."

Mr. Gauthier went on to tell how he came to British Columbia from party in its campaign.

In May, 1922, he said, he became interested in importing whisky. On his way East, he stated, he met Hon. J. A. Buckham on the train and the possibility of him selling liquor to the British Columbia Government was discussed. Mr. Buckham agreed to look into the matter and to discuss it with him again. Mr. Gauthier returned to B.C. in July, 1923, and wrote Mr. Buckham urging him to sell him in Vancouver.

Later Mr. Buckham came to Vancouver and saw Mr. Gauthier in the Hotel Vancouver, the witness proceeded. At this interview Mr. Buckham told him he would be a good idea to come to Victoria. He told Mr. Gauthier that he had placed liquor samples before the Government Purchasing Agent, James Patterson but had received no orders.

Accordingly Mr. Gauthier came to Victoria and, on asking Mr. Patterson about his samples was sent to the Government liquor warehouse where he recognized some of his samples. Few of the samples were left. He had sent several cases of samples worth about $600 including duty and express in 1922. At the most he found in the warehouse from seven to ten bottles. Mr. Patterson told him that the samples were Government property and were being sold in the Government liquor stores.

AT LOWER PRICES

Thereupon he and Mr. Buckham interviewed Attorney-General Manson at the Parliament Buildings. Mr. Buckham explained to Mr. Manson what they had in mind to do—to go to Britain and secure liquor agencies under which the Government could get liquor at lower prices. To this Mr. Manson replied that two people, Mr. Patterson and W. T. McArthur, would object to this arrangement and he could not very well authorize it. Mr. Gauthier, he added, had introduced him to Mr. Manson as a man whom he knew and who appeared to be able to get liquor at lower prices than those current at the time.

Mr. Gauthier said he urged Mr. Manson to test his brandies and left a sample of these products with the Attorney-General when he left.

Later Mr. Buckham made arrangements for meeting Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works. Accordingly he was introduced to Mr. Sutherland to whom the proposal to secure liquor agencies was explained. Mr. Sutherland said he would look into it and Gauthier returned to Vancouver.

Later Mr. Buckham told him the plan was working out fine. Then he met Dr. Sutherland, who gave him a list of British distilleries. This list was produced by Mr. Cowan as evidence. The idea, Mr. Gauthier said, was that he should select names off the list and offering the best opportunities for agencies. This occurred about October 1922.

On the list produced in court, Mr. Gauthier identified the names of J. D. Sutherland and Mr. Buckham opposite the names of distillers Mr. Gauthier was to see in England.

At the time in question, Mr. Sutherland indicated to him that everything was progressing satisfactorily, said witness. The minister said he would have the distillers' list checked up and sent to him.

Mr. Gauthier met Dr. Sutherland and Mr. Buckham at the Vancouver Hotel in January, 1923, when Dr. Sutherland said everything was all right and that arrangements were being made to give him liquor orders of 50,000 cases a year if he would secure proper agencies. It was to get the commission on the first 20,000 cases and on the remaining commissions were to be sent to the Seattle National Bank. The orders were to be signed by Mr. Patterson so Mr. Gauthier could use them to borrow money from Frank Barnes of Vancouver, for his trips to Britain.

Accordingly Mr. Gauthier received liquor orders signed by Mr. Patterson for 50,000 cases to be divided between three liquor firms.

Previously, he explained, Mr. Buckham had written him that the original arrangement of 20,000 cases made up of one batch of 10,000 cases and another of 5,000 cases.

Mr. Cowan produced a letter to Mr. Gauthier signed by Mr. Sutherland dated January 25, 1923. The letter was in Mr. Buckham's writing addressed to "Dear John." In this Mr. Buckham said he was glad to hear Mr. Gauthier was in the country and that he was waiting for him to come to Victoria.

Mr. Gauthier explained, meant the money to pay for his trip. Mr. Buckham added that he had seen "S" (Dr. Sutherland) who promised to get the "to" (orders) and who seemed pleased with the arrangements and would get Mr. Gauthier the necessary credentials.

Mr. Buckham wrote again in a letter produced by Mr. Cowan. In this Mr. Buckham referred to the whisky orders as "prescriptions." A third letter from Mr. Buckham to Mr. Gauthier was read. Mr. Buckham wrote: "Don't let hell how things are going. It looks as if it were being done now and see him and see what he has done regarding matters. The party will likely stop off in Vancouver tonight and I think you had better see him."

The "party" referred to, said witness, was Dr. Sutherland.

Stewart (an employee of the Government) will like know when he will arrive," the letter said. "Let him know I didn't mention your name to the man with the boots (Mr. Patterson). I can't see why he has not come through with the scraps of paper (orders)."

Mr. Gauthier said he did not know why Mr. Buckham referred to Mr. Patterson as "the man with the boots."

RECEIVED ORDERS

In the end, he went on, he received orders for 10,000 cases of liquor from Mr. Patterson to be divided between Peter Dawson and W. Hardie and Macdonald Muir. With the orders came a brief memorandum from Mr. Patterson stating that his orders would be confirmed by cable.

Mr. Gauthier proceeded to Ottawa to the house of his brother, deputy clerk of the Senate. He saw Dr. Sutherland in Ottawa and Dr. Sutherland told him to see Senator Rostock, Speaker of the Senate.

When he called on the Senator, Mr. Rostock took a piece of Senate note paper and wrote a letter in front of him. After signing this credential Senator Rostock handed it to Mr. Gauthier with the remark that it carried a very large power.

Mr. Gauthier said he showed his brother his orders and credentials before proceeding to Britain.

Mr. Cowan produced what purported to be copy of Senator Rostock's credentials, but Mr. Farris insisted that it be proved authentic. H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., said the original had been handed to Mr. Buckham, but Mr. Farris, appearing for Mr. Buckham, said his client had no such paper. Mr. Gauthier swore the copy was authentic. It was read by Mr. Cowan. In this document Mr. Rostock said it was to certify that Mr. Gauthier has full power to make arrangements for British Columbia Government liquor purchases and that any arrangements he might make would be confirmed by the purchasing agent.

SHOWED CREDENTIAL

This credential Mr. Gauthier said showed to Dr. Sutherland, who took a piece of paper, saying the two would make a little agreement. The agreement was that Mr. Gauthier was to keep the commission on the first 10,000 cases for himself. In addition, $2,000 was to be given to Mr. Gauthier for his expenses to be deducted from commissions on subsequent orders. The balance of the commissions was to be divided between Dr. Sutherland and Mr. Gauthier. This agreement was signed by Dr. Sutherland and Mr. Gauthier, and Dr. Sutherland kept it. Mr. Gauthier said he had kept no copy of it.

After this, Mr. Gauthier went to Montreal to the home of another brother to whom he showed his orders and Mr. Rostock's letter. Then he sailed on the Montcalm for Britain. On the way across the Atlantic he met a Mr. Comeau from Church Point, Nova Scotia. Mr. Comeau was on his way to Britain to purchase liquor for his company. He was a brother of a member of Parliament, he said, and could be located. Mr. Gauthier said he showed his orders and Mr. Rostock's letter to Mr. Comeau.

Mr. Gauthier finally arrived in Glasgow in March, 1923. There he interviewed the firm of Peter Dawson.

NO AGENT IN B.C.

Mr. Dawson, he went on, said he had no agent in British Columbia. Mr. Dawson agreed to pay a commission on whisky orders of five shillings a case. Then Mr. Gauthier placed an order and Mr. Dawson cabled to Mr. Patterson for confirmation. Mr. Patterson confirmed the order by cable. Mr. Patterson added that he would arrange the date of shipment on his arrival in Scotland shortly.

Mr. Gauthier said he had been the guest of Rupert Dawson, son of Peter Dawson, at his estate outside Glasgow. The younger Mr. Dawson told him about a trip he had made to British Columbia in the previous Fall, when he interviewed Mr. Patterson about liquor orders.

Mr. Cowan produced a copy of an invoice covering a present of a case of whisky sent to Mr. Gauthier by the Dawson firm as a present. This,

Mr. Twigg explained, was intended to show that Mr. Gauthier had actually been associated with the Dawsons.

From Glasgow Mr. Gauthier went to Edinburgh to see the firm of J. and W. Hardie. Finally he made an arrangement to buy 25,000 cases of whisky at sixty-five shillings a case with a commission of five shillings a case.

The company entertained him, Mr. Gauthier stated. The J. and W. Hardie orders, he added, were confirmed by Mr. Patterson, who said he would arrange the shipping date on his arrival in Edinburgh.

Mr. Gauthier, he added, went to Leith to interview Macdonald and Muir, with whom he placed an order for 2,500 cases of whisky with a commission of ten shillings a case. Mr. Patterson cabled that he would confirm the order on his arrival in Britain. On hearing of this Mr. Gauthier cabled to Mr. Buckham, who replied he would see that the order was confirmed immediately. These messages were in the Slater code. Mr. Gauthier using the name of "Bert," and Mr. Buckham the name "Buck."

When the confirmation of the Macdonald and Muir order failed to arrive, Mr. Gauthier went to London.

Mr. Cowan filed a letter from Rodrick Macdonald, head of Macdonald and Muir to Mr. Gauthier, stating that he had written two other British liquor firms which could "respect the secrecy of the matter." This reference, said witness, was to the fact that all the commissions were not to go to Mr. Gauthier, but that part would be used for campaign.

Mr. Macdonald, said witness, had been told of this arrangement. In his letter to Mr. Gauthier, Mr. Macdonald said he enclosed copies of his letters to other liquor firms. These copies, said witness, had later been turned over to McArthur. Mr. Cowan stated that the copies contained reference to the activities of Baron Rhonda in connection with liquor commissions, but the commissions said he was not interested in this matter unless it could be checked up by documentary evidence.

Mr. Cowan then filed a letter from a Dr. Rowett, a British rum maker, to Mr. Gauthier arranging an interview. Mr. Gauthier said he met Dr. Rowett, who said he could sell the B.C. Government rum at prices from seven to ten shillings less than those prevailing. The British Columbia Government, Dr. Rowett had said, was paying a price for the liquor and had received one shipment only a year old blended with two-year-old whisky.

Later Mr. Gauthier saw the Booth gin-manufacturing company with which he placed an order. He also saw other liquor firms to place orders with them.

Witness testified that he never received any commissions on these orders.

WENT TO FRANCE

From Britain he went to France, he said, and arranged for the purchase of French wines and brandies. Then he came back to Montreal in May, 1923 and then came on to Vancouver. In Vancouver he wired Mr. Buckham, who came to him in the Hotel Vancouver. He told Mr. Buckham he had no money. Mr. Buckham went to Victoria and returned with Dr. Sutherland. The three met in the Hotel Vancouver.

Mr. Buckham mentioned to him that Attorney-General Manson had received a cable from London from the Agent-General, Mr. Wade, asking if Gauthier's credentials were in order. Mr. Manson had replied repudiating Mr. Gauthier's sales.

At the Vancouver interview Mr. Buckham told Dr. Sutherland that Gauthier had no money. Dr. Sutherland telephoned to Mr. Stewart telling him to give Mr. Gauthier $1,000 on account of his expenses in Britain. The next day Mr. Gauthier saw Mr. Stewart who gave him $500 and over quite a long period paid him $4,000 altogether in various sums.

Mr. Buckham, said Mr. Gauthier, tried to make another liquor arrangement but finally reported that he could do no more.

RECEIVED NO REPLY

Mr. Gauthier then wrote to Premier Oliver and Senator Rostock but received no reply. Later he called on W. T. McArthur, Vancouver hardware merchant, in reply to a request. Mr. McArthur asked him what the row was about and Mr. Gauthier told of his visit to Britain. Mr. McArthur replied that he knew all about that and wanted to know why Mr. Gauthier had written to the Premier. Mr. Gauthier explained that he had done this as a last resort. Mr. McArthur offered him $1,000 in settlement of his claims but he refused this as too small. Mr. McArthur explained that only a portion of the whisky ordered by Mr. Gauthier had been received by Mr. Gauthier. He insisted that the commission was due as the orders had been properly confirmed.

Later Mr. McArthur asked him to call on him again. At this interview he asked Mr. McArthur for $35,000 in settlement. Mr. McArthur offered $20,000 on account of the liquor commission and $15,000 if he would abandon any attempt to sue Mr. Patterson. This plan Mr. Gauthier accepted. Next day he and Mr. McArthur went before Alex. Henderson, R.C. where Mr. McArthur paid him $15,000 in cash with the promise of $20,000 in two months. He signed two documents, one promising not to sue Mr. Patterson or anybody else and the other promising to pay Mr. McArthur $20,000 in two months.

CITY ESTIMATES

WE NOTE THAT THE SPECIAL COMmittee of the City Council charged with pruning the estimates for the ensuing year is still engaged upon its task in the hope that it will be able to find further items of public expenditure which may be reduced.

It ought not to be necessary to point out to this committee that a smaller sum devoted to this or that branch of the civic services does not always mean that an economy would be effected. For instance, any interference with the vote set aside for the use of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau would be the height of folly, since the benefits which the application of this money produce form a most important item in the general revenue of this community.

Opposition to the publicity vote is not new. This very important matter has to be threshed out every year. Yet there is no business here or anywhere else that produces such enormous dividends on such a small investment.

CAPT. AMUNDSEN'S VISIT

VICTORIA IS EXTREMELY FORTUnate in being able to look forward to a visit from Captain Roald Amundsen. He will need only the most formal introduction to the people of this city.
His name is a household word in every corner of the globe and his exploits mark him down as one of the most intrepid explorers the world has ever known.

Captain Amundsen enjoys the unique distinction of being the only man living who has been at both the North and South Poles. He was the first explorer to reach the great objective in the Antarctic. In the North he was the first to traverse the Northwest passage. This was nearly a quarter of a century ago.

It is not necessary to say that Captain Amundsen's recital in itself will hold the rapt attention of the audience from beginning to end; but his lecture will be all the more thrilling by reason of the magnificent collection of moving pictures with which he will illustrate it.

It is particularly interesting that Captain Amundsen's visit to Victoria synchronizes with the celebration of the 135th anniversary of the arrival in these waters of another valiant explorer—Captain George Vancouver.

PEKIN POLICE METHODS

WE ARE CONTINUALLY BEING TOLD
that Soviet agents are responsible for the movement which is being developed by the Cantonese in China. Only occasionally is it recognized that the movement is a logical one, a movement which eventually is bound to succeed, a movement which really owes its origin to the instruction which has been given to Chinese students in the universities of Occidental countries.

It should be admitted that it is impossible to divorce any view of the situation from the salient fact that the foreign powers all along have put their money,
as it were, upon the northern elements, not only because they were more susceptible to influence, but also because they popularly were supposed to be free from any Soviet taint. It may be that they were not guilty of domination in any form by Moscow; yet it is an open question whether their methods of conducting business are not worse than those followed by the Communists of Russia.

After all, the southern movement, irrespective of what sway Soviet emissaries have held in Canton, is an awakening to the fact that China should be getting ready to attend to her own affairs, that a time has come to make new arrangements with the foreign powers. Sir Austen Chamberlain recognized this right when he laid down Great Britain's policy. Reactionary elements no doubt have made it impossible for him to maintain the view which he obviously held some weeks ago.

What of the northern faction? What is going on in Peking? A dispatch from that city this morning reports that one leading Communist and seventeen
other Chinese, recently arrested during a Chinese police raid on the premises within the Soviet Embassy compound, were executed this afternoon. They met their death by strangulation at police headquarters. It was expected that the prisoners would be tried in a special court being formed to hear the evidence against them. Their crime was that of being found in possession of documents that were supposed to prove that Soviet Russia was actively supporting the Cantonese against the northern authorities. "Apparently," this dispatch reads, "the court, having somewhat informally investigated the cases, was satisfied as to their guilt,
and ordered the summary execution of the eighteen."

There may be nothing extraordinary about Chinese methods of punishing the native; but it will have to be admitted that if the Nationalist movement

is a genuine attempt to replace ancient methods with a modern system of government—and there is little doubt about this—no foreign power will feel particularly proud of its leanings towards an authority such as that which has just dealt so summarily with sympathizers with the southern movement.

A GENTLEMAN AND A SCHOLAR

THE RETIREMENT OF DR. E. B. PAUL from the principalship of Victoria College will occasion widespread regret, notwithstanding the realization that after his service of forty years in the cause of education in this Province he is entitled to a well-earned rest. Dr. Paul was foremost among those who secured the establishment of the college,
and he has had the satisfaction of seeing it thrive
under his direction in a measure which has exceeded
the fondest hopes of its supporters.

But long before Dr. Paul began his association with this institution he had won for himself a place of unique distinction in educational circles in British Columbia. After serving as principal of the Na-naimo High School, he took over the direction of the Victoria High School, and remained in that post for sixteen years, withdrawing from it to become an inspector of schools. For his fine record as an educationist, his splendid scholarship, and sterling qualities
as a citizen, he was signally honored by the venerable Aberdeen University, of which he is a graduate, with the degree of Doctor of Laws, a distinction not lightly bestowed by that institution.

Dr. Paul always will be affectionately remembered by thousands of students for the never-failing kindness, fine courtesy, breadth of mind and exceptional intellectual qualities implied in the definition of a gentleman and a scholar. It is gratifying to learn that although he no longer will direct, Victoria College from the principal's chair his services will be available from time to time in the form of lectures on various subjects, and our students therefore will not be deprived altogether of the resources of his fine mind.

NATURE'S SURPRISES

LATEST REPORTS FROM THE MISsissippi valley indicate that the loss caused by the recent floods will run up to something like $500,000,000.

Some United States editors take the view that the country has been treating the Mississippi problem
"as a poor man treats his farm—never spending enough to get it in good shape." They recall that scores of millions have been spent in a patch-work in the hope that danger from floods would be stayed off. How far short of accomplishing this these precautions were is shown by what has taken place during the last few days.

The cry that now naturally is going up is that if the total of the present loss had been properly spent under one comprehensive scheme, this flood would have been prevented and ample safeguard against future floods would have been insured.

These tragic happenings in the neighboring republic are forcible reminders of the variety of conditions with which Nature endowed it. They also let us know that the wealthiest nation in the world can only moderately protect itself against her moods.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

DEATH OF A TENOR

From The New York World
Edward Lloyd of England died recently at the age of eighty-two. And who was Edward Lloyd? According to the dispatches, he was one of the most celebrated tenors who ever came out of England,
having attained fame and fortune in various countries, including the United States, in the closing decades of the last century.

This surely furnishes an ironic commentary on human eminence, or at least on that kind of human eminence which is associated with the art of song.
It is safe to assume that not many of our generation remember Edward Lloyd, or even know that there was such a person. And it is safe to assume that not many of our generation can remember any of his contemporary colleagues. When we begin to cast our thoughts back to the lyric stage of long ago the mists are so thick that we can barely distinguish faces, to say nothing of names. Theodore Roosevelt is as vivid as though he was with us yesterday, but what of the song-birds who delighted us
during his reign? Nordica, the de Reszkes, Calve, Braham, Gadsby, Bonci—how far away they seem!
Alas, as soon as we make the turn of the century
all is shockingly vague: Tamagno . . . Campanini
... Abbott . . . Kellogg . . . Beyond Jenny Lind
we find a complete blank, and even she seems infinitely more remote than Barnum, who was chiefly responsible for her fame.

All this is the more remarkable considering the blaze of glory that plays around such folk while they are in their heyday. At the moment there are probably ten people who know who Gagli is to one who knows who Deems Taylor is. Yet if Mr. Taylor can come in with two or three more operas like
"The King's Henchman" it can be predicted that twenty-five years from now there will be ten people who know who he is to one who knows who Mr.
Gagli is. At least we take it that there are ten people who know who wrote "Madame Butterfly" to one who knows who created the part of Pinkerton.
P.S.—It was Caruso.

Queer Quirks of Nature

By ARTHUR N. PACK

Who has not, when a child, caught a lightning bug and wondered why it did not burn and how it was that it made its light and where it carried its lantern. Now comes the scientist to explain all the mystery of this little beetle, and to take away, perchance, some of the glory from this childhood favorite.

The fire-fly belongs to the family Lampyridae. This means "to shine," and surely this bug lives up to its name. It begins life as a grub either in the earth or under old rotting logs. Here it feeds upon soft-bodied insects and food of like nature.

They are night prowlers, and sluggish and inactive during the day. It is probable their stilted flashes are a protective measure as well as constituting sex appeal.

Do You Mean What You Say?

TO UPSET ONE'S APPLE CART!

4-22

TO UPSET ONE'S APPECART

The old common venders who push their carts along the streets are very common in England and in parts of the United States and other countries as well. To upset his apple cart puts the old fellow who owns it to no end of trouble. He not only loses much of it to persons who grab
the spilled apples and to the small boys who are ever hovering about to take advantage of an old man's misfortune, but the remainder is spoiled by rolling better skelter into the sea and under vehicles and motors. Hence when a man's carefully arranged plans go awry and get him into trouble he is said to have "upset his appecart."

DEATHS IN MONTREAL

Montreal, April 28.—Three persons died violent deaths here yesterday.
Lucienne Theriault, aged four, was instantly killed when struck by a taxicab. As he was placing the shutters on a window of a three-story building, U. Lecare, fifty-six,
lost his balance and fell to the sidewalk. He suffered a fracture of the skull and died in a short time. Hanging from a rope in the kitchen of her home, the body of Mrs. S. Sher-row, thirty-six, was found.

JOYS FROM GEOGRAPHY

KILLARNEY LAKES, in Ireland, are among the most famous in the world.
The lakes are three in number, and are known as the Upper, Middle and Lower Lakes. The first two are about two miles in length and the Lower Lake is more than five miles long. The lakes are connected by the swift-flowing river Lough Rye, and are surrounded by rugged mountains that hem their beauty
in. The rich scenery of the Killarney region is unsurpassed on the island.

SEVEN BOY SCOUT TROOPS USED IN COLUMBIA PICTURE

Seven troops of Boy Scouts were used in the filming of "A Regular Scout," an F.B.O. production starring Fred Thomson, which comes to the Columbia Theatre to-day, when it begins a three-day run. Aside from the Scout interest, the picture will have a great appeal for those who admire the Thomson type of Western, for its locale is in the West and Silver King, the greatest equine star, plays a very important part. Olive Hasbrouck lends her charm in the leading feminine role, while others in the cast are Mary Carr, Margaret Seddon, Buck Black, William Courtwright, Bob McKim, Harry Woods and T. Roy Barnes. The story is by B. F. Oxford, while the continuity was made by David Kirkland.

breaking, is her pocket-book. But that million which was willed her by an old uncle did the trick until, well, the only thing to do, is to give a bit of advice; go to the Variety Theatre this week and see the explanation.

AUSTRO-ITALIAN WAR BACKGROUND FOR BIG PLAYHOUSE PICTURE

The war between Italy and Austria in 1810 forms the background for Corinne Griffith's latest picture, "The Lady in Ermine," now at the Playhouse. Built to a climax, in which the heroine is faced with seeing her husband shot as a spy or saving his life at the cost of her honor, the story teems with suspense and action. It opens on the eve of war and at the marriage of an Italian Countess to one of the most popular officers in the Italian army.

ABSORBING STORY BY JULES VERNE MAGNET AT CAPITOL

M. Dezas in the role of Peofar, the Grand Khan of Tartary, in the famous Jules Verne melodrama, presented at the Capitol Theatre to-day is the living embodiment of the coldly cruel Oriental who watches without the flicker of an eyelash the torture of a man or woman. Seated on his throne in the audience tent at the great camp of the Tartar tribesmen, surrounded by his giant bodyguard, he surrounds the very scene of barbaric splendour, shown on the screen in full color, he presents one of the most romantic and picture-eque figures ever shown in a photograph. He has appeared in many important roles in company with Ivan Moskine, who heads the cast in the title role of "Michael Strogoff." The vaudeville attractions on the

HUNDRED YARDS OF MATERIAL USED IN SCREEN STAR'S DRESS

Skirts are getting longer. Some of the newest ones are a block long. Travis Banton, motion picture fashion expert, recently designed a dress for Esther Ralston, Paramount star, whose making required 112 yards of tulle, approximately the length of an average city block. The gown is pink with a tight bodice and a full skirt of flare pattern, reaching to the knees. Banton calls it "the gardenia gown" and Miss Ralston wears it in her first starring picture, "Fashions for Women," which shows at the Dominion Theatre this week. Dorothy Arner was in charge of production activities.

To Show North Pole

CAPT. ROALD AMUNDSEN

While the narrative of Capt. Amundsen's flight across the North Pole in a dirigible is of great interest it is the motion pictures of the flight which have held the audiences in great suspense in other cities in which they have been shown. The many thousand feet of motion pictures showing the difficult stages of the flight, the North Pole itself, the great ice fields, the battle with wind and snow storms, surpass anything ever before, thrown on the screen.

Capt. Amundsen will appear before two Victoria audiences to-morrow. In the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock he will have the school children and teachers before him and in the evening at 8:30 o'clock he will speak and show his pictures to the adults.

Mother and Baby Rid of Eczema

Itching Stopped—Skin Healed—by the Ovelmo Treatment

Out at Sunny Spring Ranch, near Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, is a very happy mother who is doubly grateful to Ovelmo. She is grateful for her own recovery, and especially happy because her baby is no longer tortured with Eczema. Mrs. James E. Cole says she was just about worn out with the pain and irritation, and between her own suffering and worry over her baby, got no rest, day or night. "Ovelmo rid both my baby and myself of Eczema. My boy is now nearly ten years old and he has never had any sign of its return, and I have never, either."

This is one feature of the Ovelmo Treatment that cannot be emphasized too strongly. Ovelmo seems to drive the disease out of the system. Clean, odorless, stainless, Ovelmo cools and soothes the maddening itching and burning; heals the eruptions; loosens the scales. The skin becomes clear, smooth and healthy. Ovelmo is a complete treatment for Eczema, Itch, Tetter, Salt Rheum and other forms of skin trouble. It includes both internal and external remedies, which are necessary in most severe and stubborn cases. Druggists not only recommend Ovelmo—they sell it on a positive guarantee of money back if you do not get satisfactory results. (Adv.)

BEACONS OF PEACE TO LIGHT STRAITS

Beacon Hill and Dungeness Will Flash Flaming Messages of Goodwill

Canadian and United States people will watch great beacon fires burn on adjacent shores on Saturday night, one on the soil of Canada and the other on the ground of the United States, on the occasion of the celebration of the 15th anniversary of Captain George Vancouver's arrival at Victoria Harbor and his meeting with Captain Robert Gray, the United States explorer in the Straits of Juan de Fuca. The day will be internationally celebrated.

At 9 o'clock on Saturday evening, when the darkness has come over the Straits in which Captain Vancouver's old vessel lay anchored nearly a century and a half ago, a great beacon fire will be lighted on Beacon Hill. Simultaneously another gigantic conflagration will be started at Dungeness on the American side of the water. Persons on both opposite shores will be enabled to see these leaping flames providing the night is not too murky.

SEATTLE SPONSORS

The Seattle Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the event and one of the features of the celebration will be the international banquet at the Olympic Hotel, Friday night. Premier Oliver Mayor Carl Penderay, C. P. W. Schwengler, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Archie Muir, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, R. E. Barkley of Westholme, direct descendant of the Captain Barkley whose name belongs to the Sound on the West Coast of this shore, and many other citizens, will attend this function.

At the same time the Beacon Hill fire bursts towards the sky, and the Dungeness beacon sends its flames leaping a band will play concert numbers in the vicinity of each. An excellent programme of band concert music has been arranged for the Victoria through which will watch the lighting of the beacon.

WAR SECRETARY'S NOTE

The Secretary of War for the United States has sent a message to the Seattle Chamber of Commerce regarding the celebration in hand. Dwight P. Davis's note reads as follows:

"The Strait of Juan de Fuca is

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles don't know that quick and permanent relief can be accomplished with internal medicine. Cutting or any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will not remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonard tried it in many, many cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from MacFarlane Drug Co. to-day. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you. (Adv.)

Sidney

Sidney, April 25.—The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school room on Tuesday, the president, Mrs. Gilman, in the chair. Final arrangements were made for the card party to be held on May 9 in Matthews Hall. There will be good prizes for both bridge and five hundred and it is hoped that all members and friends will keep this date open. It was felt that there were many in the district who did not play cards and had not contributed in any way who would like to make a small donation toward a piano for the school. A committee was appointed to call on these people. It was decided to hold the school picnic as usual this year. Arrangements for this were left over till the next meeting. The meeting then adjourned.

Aberdeen, Scotland, October 12, 1921.

James Paterson, Esq., Liquor Control Board, Victoria, B.C.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of 10th August was received here fully a week ago. We have given the matter our serious consideration, and we should dislike very much passing over our agents, and indeed, considering our present arrangements this would not be possible, we have to say that we regret we cannot entertain your suggestion to supply you, except through the mediumship of our agents. In any case, we were to do so, we could not make any alteration in the price, as the prices are our regular export prices, so that you would not benefit in any way, and we can assure you that when we can, any reduction in price will be notified to you at the earliest possible moment.

We trust that our decision will not in any way prejudice you always of our best attention.

PRICE NOT AFFECTED
James Buchanan & Co. Limited, 26 Holborn, London, E.C.1, November 29, 1921.

James Paterson, Esq., Liquor Control Board, Victoria, B.C.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of the 10th September, we ought to have pointed out that the fact of your orders passing through our agents, Messrs. Gillespie & Co. of Montreal, does not in any way affect the price, which, as you are aware, is for our "Black & White" first five shillings per case, delivery F.O.B. Glasgow. You will, therefore, understand that if our present arrangements permitted of our transacting the business direct with you, the price of fifty-five shillings per case would still apply, and you are, therefore, importing our goods at the very lowest export price.

Thanking you for your esteemed patronage, and assuring you of our best attention at all times.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of the 10th inst., we regret that present arrangements will not permit of our entertaining the suggestion therein contained. For many years past, our agency for the Dominion of Canada, has been in the hands of Messrs. Awaiting further commands, which will always receive every attention.

Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of your favor of the 10th August but in reply beg to say that our business with your country has always been conducted through a resident representative and we do not see our way to change our method, as such a course would eventually put him out of employment.

NO CHANGE POSSIBLE
Mackie & Co., Distillers Limited, 217 West George Street, Glasgow, September 27, 1921.

James Paterson, Esq., Liquor Control Board, Government of British Columbia, Victoria, B.C.

Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of your favor of 10th August, from which we note that it is the desire of the Liquor Control Board and yourself to purchase your liquors direct from distillers and bottlers of proprietary brands.

Much as we would like to meet you in the matter, we are very sorry that long standing arrangements absolutely preclude our entertaining your suggestion, and we have no option but to continue shipping supplies through the medium of our appointed agents.

We would take this opportunity of pointing out that, while we have been obliged in order to maintain our pre-war standard of age and quality, to curtail supplies of our whisky to many markets, we have only been too pleased to ship you the full quantities which you have from time to time asked from our agent, and while old matured malt whiskies are becoming scarcer and dearer day by day, nevertheless we shall be only too glad to give your requirements every preference in the matter of quantity and shipping dates.

Trusting to be favoured with your further commands.

Yours faithfully,

CONFERENCE OF CHILD WELFARE TO HOLD SESSION IN CITY

Canadian Gathering Coming to Coast For First Time May 23-27

Vancouver, April 28.—A preliminary programme of the sixth Canadian Child Welfare Conference, which will meet this year for the first time west of Winnipeg, May 23-27, has been issued. The Canadian Council of Child Welfare announces that the conference will take a different form this year than any previously held, the meetings extending over five days. The first four days' gatherings will take place in Vancouver, the conference winding up in Victoria the fifth day.

PROGRAMME
Each day is given to one particular group of child welfare problems. Following is an outline of the programme:
May 23—"Health": Chairman, Dr. H. J. Young, Deputy Minister of Health, British Columbia. Speakers will include Dr. C. Wace, Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, Victoria.
May 24—"Education": Recreation and Juvenile Employment": Chairman, Dr. George Weir, University of British Columbia. Speakers will include Dr. J. W. Gibson, principal, Normal School, Victoria, and John Kyle, director of British Columbia Correspondence Schools, Victoria.
May 25—"Social and Mental Hygiene": The Canadian Council for Social Hygiene takes charge of a session on "Protection of the Child Against Social Disease".
The Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene takes charge of a session on "Mental Hygiene and Child Welfare".
May 26 and 27—The sessions are devoted to subjects of child care and protection.

Two evening sessions will be given to the dining of the British Columbia Child Welfare Survey, now being made by the Child Welfare Council.
The outstanding event of the conference will be a banquet, presided over by Vancouver, at which Col. Dr. Amyot, Deputy Minister of Health for Canada, and Hon. Irene Parley of Alberta, are expected as guests of honor.

FORESTS REQUIRE PROTECTION FOR FUTURE RESOURCES

Speaker Tells Rotarians of British Columbia's Timber Wealth

Reports for the month from the Puget Sounders and British Columbian Incorporated, comprising five northwestern cities in league to route tourists travel through their districts, indicate that flow of Summer visitors into this territory will be immense this year. According to advice received by the Public Commission to-day specific advertisements have made a great impression on the tourist public and great expectations are entertained for the results this year.

At this time, the organization is working in conjunction with the Seattle branch of the Pacific Foreign Trade Council in planning for the celebration of the anniversary of the meeting of Captain George Vancouver and Captain Gray, the American explorer. This takes place on Friday and Saturday of this week, with a great banquet in Seattle and an interesting ceremony here.

Until this celebration has been completed the council is making no further plans for a Foreign Trade Conference to be held in this city in September, according to reports.

BEARD ASKS RESERVE ON GRAHAM PROPERTY

Four-acre Site on Hillside Would be Ideal For Middle School, it is Urged

Special Estimates Committee Will Report to City Council To-night

The setting aside of the four-acre Graham property on Hillside Avenue, now in city hands, for school reserve purposes was requested by the City Council in adjourned session to-night by the City School Board. The location would be an ideal one for a middle school, the trustees declared.

Major business before the council to-night will be the probable tentative fixing of the tax rate. A report of the special committee struck last week, which would be effected in the budget will be laid before the council, recommending a considerable reduction in the total estimated expenditures now proposed.

Steadily growing school costs, added population and the necessity of upkeep in the various departments under city control have added a considerable burden to the budget this year, as compared with last. For four years now Victoria has reduced its per capita tax for civic purposes, though the effort to do so this year, as compared with last, has been proving more of a problem than at first supposed.

"MISS VICTORIA" RACE EXCITING

With Miss Madeleine Woodman, No. 3, still leading at the end of the third day's voting, the "Miss Victoria" beauty contest, the interesting fight has developed between Miss Phyllis McKillop, No. 1, known as "Miss Sidney," and Miss Kathryn McLaren, No. 14, a Victoria native daughter, for second place.

As the fourth day's balloting started this afternoon, only a handful of voters remained. Miss McKillop started out with a big lead over Miss McLaren. On Tuesday, however, Miss McLaren appeared on the stage with her new beauty, and she was a success. She had an immediate effect in the voting. Yesterday Miss McLaren actually polled forty per cent more votes than Miss McKillop, bringing the vote down to a fairly close contest.

On Monday Miss McKillop polled more than two to one over Miss McLaren. On Tuesday Miss McKillop's lead dropped down to a fairly close contest, while yesterday's balloting gave a forty per cent preference for Miss McLaren.

The girl who made the biggest impression, gain yesterday, was Miss Marjorie Wright, No. 11. Yesterday she polled exactly five times as many votes as she polled on Tuesday. Her gain is attributed to the changed style and dress, and to the fact that she was the only girl who had a new hairstyle and new dress.

Marjorie and her sister, Miss Joan No. 5, are the only two long-haired girls in the contest. Miss Marjorie started out with her hair in two long braids down the front of her shoulders. This style of hair, apparently, does not please Victoria beauty fanciers as the votes were slow in coming. Now, however, since she fluffed her hair up and wears it in a light, airy mass, votes have followed in an avalanche.

Some of the other girls plan to appear in new and more dazzling costumes before the end of the week in their flight for votes.

Miss Lena Spouse, No. 12, besides being the most petite beauty in the contest, is first to receive a presentation bouquet over the footlights from one of her admirers. The presentation was in the form of a bouquet of white and pink carnations and red tulips, with these words on a card: "From a friend, wishing you lots of luck, A.F." Miss Spouse blushed as well as beamed as the flowers were handed to her on the stage.

Miss Constance Rivers, No. 4, is wearing on her left shoulder a jewelled butterfly, the gift of an admirer. Miss Rivers is well known in Victoria. Besides being a frequent performer on the violin, she is cashier at the Poodle Dog Cafe. She is an expert in cooking and has charge of the designing of the cakes and pastries produced in the kitchens there. She is being backed in this contest by H. W. Beer and W. Rogers.

Miss Mildred, No. 7, the dancer, and Miss Madeleine Burke, No. 5, are giving each other a neck-and-neck race.

other stating that he was surrendering all his documents in connection with the matter.

Mr. Gauthier said he made a copy of these documents and this was certified by Mr. Henderson.

Mr. Cowan read Mr. Gauthier's copies of these documents, with the original of Mr. Henderson's signature on them, certifying them as true copies of the originals. These were dated April 1, 1924. Mr. Gauthier swore he had seen Mr. Henderson sign the documents.

SAW LAWYER

Witness stated that he had not received the $20,000 promised to him in two months. After this time, he said, he wrote Mr. McArthur reminding him that the $20,000 payment was due to him. He received no reply so he went to a lawyer in Oakland, California, where he was living then.

This lawyer wrote to Mr. McArthur, and Mr. McArthur wrote to the agent in Vancouver, McKenzie Matheson. Mr. Matheson saw Mr. Manson and others concerned. Later Mr. Gauthier came to Vancouver and saw Mr. Matheson, who said he had done everything possible and, being friendly with the Government, could not take his case. Mr. Gauthier laid the case before Mr. Matheson, who said that owing to his position as head of the Conservative Association and because he was busy and ill, he would not take the case.

Mr. Gauthier saw Mr. Matheson, a Victoria lawyer, who wanted $1,000 in advance before proceeding so that he could go to Britain to collect evidence. Mr. Gauthier paid the money to pay this retainer and finally secured no one to act for him. At this point the commission adjourned for luncheon.

Toronto, April 28.—A system of beer sale that will operate through the warehouses of the breweries has been practically decided upon by the Ontario Liquor Commission. Limited stocks of beer will be kept at the regular liquor stores, but all orders for beer in quantity lots will be transmitted to the breweries, who will make the deliveries direct from their plants.

persons were in danger at Holland, Arcola, Benson, and Yaxo City, Miss., from a continued rise of water and calls were made for aid to remove thousands of persons. Boats were ordered to leave at Gulfport last night in response to the call. Greenville, Miss., reported the river was stationary there, although water flowing through the Mississippi was faster than that in the stream itself.

FLOOD MOVES SOUTH

Engineers there expected no further rise at Greenville, indicating the crest of the flood had passed on south.

Greenville reported sporadic looting of business houses by negroes and an 8 o'clock curfew law was enforced by soldiers who patrolled in boats with orders to shoot men refusing to halt.

Five negroes were arrested for looting and placed in jail.

RAILROAD LOSSES

New York, April 28.—Advices received in Wall Street say the New York Times to-day, indicate property damage to two railroads in the flooded Mississippi region may reach $7,000,000.

The flood damage to the Missouri Pacific Railway may reach $5,000,000 or $6,000,000. The Texas and Pacific, which is controlled by the Missouri Pacific, may be damaged to the extent of $1,000,000.

ST. LOUIS COLLEGE PROGRAMME FIXED

Patrons of Annual Affair Are Promised Enjoyable Evening

Tickets are selling well for the concert and entertainment staged annually by the pupils of St. Louis College, which will be held this year on Monday and Tuesday, May 2 and 3, in the auditorium of St. Ann's Academy, Humboldt Street. The boys of the school are rehearsing their different parts daily and everything is in readiness for the presentation on Monday evening. This is the seventh annual programme to be given by the students of St. Louis College, and this year it promises to live up to the reputation that it has acquired in former years. Part choruses, steps, dances, drills, recitations and solos make up the first part of the programme, while a one-act miracle play, "The Travelling Man," by Lady Gregory, and the dagger scene from Shakespeare's "Macbeth," will comprise the second part, rounding out what is expected to be a most enjoyable evening.

VETERANS OF 88TH SET ANNUAL DINNER DATE

A large number of ex-members of the 88th Battalion C.E.F. turned out last night for a meeting held at the Britannia Post Legion headquarters, for the purpose of making arrangements for the first annual dinner. It was decided that the reunion will take place on the evening of May 23 at 8 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce. This reunion will be for those who proceeded overseas with the unit which left Victoria on May 23, 1916. The following committee was appointed to take charge of arrangements: Dinner committee—W. G. Stone, Pearson, Colbert, Hayes, Waterson. Entertainment committee—Randmaster, A. Runnaby, Messrs. Lorrimer, Turner, Harrison. Refreshment committee—Messrs. Weatherall, Hayward, Banks.

The secretary to the committee is J. J. Colbert, 818 Transit Road, Victoria. Tickets can be obtained from Mr. Turner at the Marble Bath Barber Shop, Basement, Sayward Building. It was further decided to hold another meeting at the Britannia Post headquarters, Fairbanks-Morse Building, corner Broad and Johnson Streets, on Wednesday, May 11, at 8 o'clock, when the Rev. W. J. Sippell will officiate and the Rev. Rev. Dean Quainton, at 2:30, the interment being at Royal Oak Cemetery.

BASEBALL, BOXING

St. Louis Browns
Continue To Make Dopesters Look Bad

Come Through in Tenth With Victory Over Cleveland; Now
in Second Place

Donohue Unfortunate in His Pitching; Trades Talked of
By Some Clubs

New York, April 28.—With a spurt by the St. Louis Browns, which carried them to second place in the American League
the battle for the lead to-day
waxed hotter.

The fighting Browns surprised the dopesters, who rated
them as a second division club,
by passing Washington yesterday and challenging the Yankees for league leadership. Their telling victory was won in the tenth from Cleveland, 4 to 2, on the capable pitching of Sam Jones, former Yankees, and the timely hitting of Rice.

While the Yankees and Washington Senators were idle because of rain, the Athletics took another step forward by beating the Boston
Red Sox 4 to 1, and went into a tie with Washington for third place. Ty Cobb again started with two hits,
a double, and Bill Lamar helped with three hits, one a homer. Lefty Grover pitched fine ball, allowing only six hits.

DONOHUE IN HARD LUCK
A pitcher's battle between Blake
of the Cubs and Donohue of the Cincinnati Reds broke in favor of the former and the Cubs won 2 to
1. That score indicates to be a hint for Donohue, as he has been on the losing end of a 2-10-1 count three times this season.

For the second time in three days,
George Connelly did a rescue act
for the White Sox and pulled a game
out of the fire for a hard hit pitcher.
This time it was Jacobs who was winning under a Detroit batting attack,
but the quick substitution of Con-
nelly confined the Tigers to just hits.

The swinging Chicago bats meanwhile sent the count to seven to two,
and the quick substitution of Con-
nelly confined the Tigers to just hits.
Talk of trades was heard in the hotels of several teams as the weather kept them from playing their games on the field. It was rumored that Wilbert Robinson is trying to trade one of his second-best pitchers to Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals for D'Arcy Flowers, shortstop, in the course of strenuous efforts to get his Robins
out of the cellar.

Seattle Rotarians

Win Team Golf Match
---------------------	--

Tacoma, April 28.—The four-man team of the Seattle Rotary Club won the district championship in a golf tournament played here yesterday as the concluding feature of the annual convention of Rotarians of district Number 1. The Seattleites downed the Portland representatives in 18 holes of medal play.

plan to match him with Pauline Uzcouin on July 1 that it was "O.K."
with me and as soon as I have a chance to talk it over with him in New York I'll go through with my part of the contract."

STARTS OFF WELL

JESSE HAINES

If Jesse Joseph Haines, of Phillipsburg, Ohio, has not set a record for early season pitching effectiveness so far he has at least some within hailing distance
of it.

The rawboned twirler of the St.
Louis Cardinals has won all three of his starts, each against a different team and permitted the meagre production of ten hits and a single run of his delivery in twenty-seven innings.

In his first game, April 13, he blanked the Chicago Cubs with two hits, 5 to 0. Six days later he held Cincinnati to five hits,
one a triple, while his mates clubbed out a 9-1 decision. He came back Monday with another aristocratic touch, holding the slugging Pirates to three hits and winning a 1-0 duel with Ray Kremer, himself previously undefeated in three starts.

In these three skirmishes,
Haines issued five bases on balls
and struck out eleven.

Perhaps it was the heroic role
he played in the 1926 world's series that has inspired him to a new lease in pitching life, for in seven years with the Cardinals
he has seldom shown anything like the consistent brilliancy of this Spring.

He won two games against the Yankees in last Fall's classic.
The first was a spectacular 4-0 shutout in which he clinched the decision personally with a homerun. He also was credited officially with the final victory although Grover Alexander saved
the day by relieving him and fanning Lazzeri with the bases full.

Like Kremer, Vance and others, Haines seems to be striking his stride late in life. He will be thirty-four in July. Only two other Cardinals, Alexander and Frank Snyder, are older.

Bowling At Beacon
Hill Will Open On Saturday Afternoon

Ald. Harvey Will Officially Open Greens; Expect Record Attendance

On Saturday afternoon the official opening of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club will take place at the beautiful grounds at Beacon Hill.

Alderman Harvey, chairman of the park committee, will preside, and throw the first bowl, and declare the greens open for play.

The present season begins under
the most auspicious circumstances,
the executive and particularly the greens committee, having spared no efforts to have the greens in excellent shape.

EVERYONE INVITED
Invitations have been given to all city and outside bowlers as well as to those who may contemplate playing,
to be present and to bring along their friends, so that with favorable weather conditions a record opening attendance may be recorded.

Improvements are at present onward at the clubhouse, which,
when completed, will supply all modern facilities for lady and gentlemen
members and visitors.

This social and friendly game of bowling should appeal to lovers of clean and healthy sport, and the parent club of Vancouver Island is desirous of seeing a large development and growth of this ancient and popular pastime.

Navy Score Great Win Over Bakers To Cop MacKay Shield

Score 5-4 in Final of Knockout Series Played at Royal Athletic Yesterday

Winners Came From Behind
Twice to Take the Lead in Last Few Minutes of Match

In the biggest upset recorded in the Wednesday Football League this season the Navy defeated Rennie & Taylors 5-4 at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday afternoon and won the MacKay Shield. This is the first year that the MacKay Shield has been up for competition. It was presented by "Scotty" Mac-Kay, well-known athlete.

The Navy played a great game and,
after being on the short end of the score on two occasions, staged a fine comeback to carry off the honors.
Going into the game favorites the Bakers tried hard to win their third trophy this year, but the bluejackets
were just a little too good for them.
The Navy have only shown flashes
of class during the season yesterday
they played the best game and deserved their victory.

Playing with the wind in their favor the Bakers obtained an early lead when Davis sent in a high shot that struck the upright and glanced into the net. One goal down the Navy rushed the play to the other end of the field and Lomas was tested with several fast drives. Taking a pass from Hall, Robinson, insideright for the Navy put the teams on even terms.

IN FRONT AGAIN

For the next ten minutes Barker,
the Navy goalie, gave a fine exhibition of goal-tending. Taylor, outside-right, sent the Bakers to the front once again, scoring on a low shot.

Shortly after this Renniees were awarded a penalty. Field took the kick but Barker came out of his net
and saved.

Rennie's third goal came just before half-time, Cyril Speak being responsible.

The second half had just not under way when Cosier scored for the Navy.
Carrying the ball down the left wing
he brought it into centre and drove it past Lomas from close quarters.

TIED UP AGAIN

The Navy had the best of the play
at this stage and forced three corners in short order. The bluejackets gave the crowd a thrill when Whyte beat Lomas for the equalizing counter.

But the score tied, both teams tried hard for the winning goal and the Bakers again obtained the lead through a fine bit of work on the part of MacKay.

THE HERO

To Hall, goes the honor of scoring both the tying and winning goals for the Navy. Cosier laid the pass for the winning goal.

Renniees tried hard to even up but time was short and they were forced to admit defeat.

Alcock refereed and the teams were
as follows:
Navy: Barker; Peters and Quinn;
C. Whyte, Roberts and Cleave; Patterson, Robinson, A. Whyte, Hall and Cosier.

Rennie & Taylors: Lomas; Newman and Tupman; Sewell, McKinnon
and Stewart; Taylor, Field, Speak, Merfield and Davis.

Oaklands in Finals

The Cecil Hay Cup for the intermediate roller hockey championship
of Victoria will be held by the Victoria Wests for the next twelve months as a result of their 9-3 victory over the St. Pats at the V.I.A. gymnasium last night.

Able Davies was the star of the game, scoring five of the winne's goals. The St. Pats put up a good fight, but they were outclassed by the Wests.

In the junior division the Oakland Dreadnoughts earned the right to meet the Saanich Rovers in the final round tonight by defeating Ross Bay 6-5.

The teams were as follows:
Victoria West—J. Davies, Wallace,
Walker, A. Davies, Pellett and Carlow.

St. Pats—Dunc. Deblacquire,
Rush, Keown, Bowden, Drysdale, Barnswell, Fidler and Simpson.

Oakland Dreadnoughts—Riddgwood,
Moore, McRitchie, Carlow, Duncan,
Smith and Viggers.

Ross Bay—McDonald, Morris, Patterson, Atwood, Green, Barnett, Abbott and Palmer.

Roy Cliffe Matches
To Fight Belanger

Vancouver, April 28.—Roy Cliffe, Courtney, B.C., lightweight, and Charlie Belanger of Vancouver, are scheduled to meet in a 10-round bout
here on May 6, according to a telephone message received this morning from Jack Allen, who arranged the bout Monday night with Cliffe at Bellingham. Belanger is one of the leading boxers in his division on the coast, and Cliffe is well known to British Columbia and Washington fans.

VANCOUVER BOXER LOSES
Williamson, Cal., April 28.—Marty
"Kid" Mack, Long Beach, welterweight, received the decision over Sammy McLarnin, Vancouver B.C. boxer, in a six-round bout here last night.

NOW NAMED GREATEST DRIVER IN GOLF

All-round tee bombardments of the past year have clinched a new title for Leo Diegel, the Canadian open champion.

He is the greatest driver playing golf to-day.
Babe Ruth, who is some little ball nudger himself, saw Diegel getting off a few practice blasts at New York. He stood silently for a minute watching Diegel send little white pellets sailing down the fairway like rifle shots.

"Well," Ruth muttered sadly, as he turned to unlumber his own driver,
"I'll be a cup of coffee."

Here is the secret of Diegel's long driving. He is not tall, yet he gets a very wide arc in his swing which is flat. He braces himself so he leans well toward the ball and he holds his arms out from the body.

He does not place any part of his clubhead behind the ball when addressing it, but holds it inside the ball at least three or four inches.

Funny? Well, Gene Sarazen laughed too. He laughed right out loud in print at the unorthodox style and Diegel challenged him to a series of matches, and after it was all over, Leo took his winnings and told the orthodox little Italian to go buy himself a lollipop and new typewriter.

Diegel's most famous drive was pulled off at Troon, Scotland, scene of the British open. It was at the eleventh hole, measuring 340 yards.
Leo unleashed a screamer that held the line to the pin all the way.
After a long carry it landed in front of the green and rolled dead to the cup, but was traveling a bit too fast and stopped six feet on the other side.

Had there been a shade less punch Leo would have had a 340-yard hole in one to rave about.

In the 1925 P. G. A. Diegel's drives were longer than his partner, Walter Hagen, and he had the champion shooting first to the green three times to his one.

Seal of Gary, Ind., and was awarded honors in the 225-pound class in succession to Lowen, who had grown into the 147-pound frame.

Joe Hanow of New York and Joe
Goddard, Minneapolis, put up a fine
sling exhibition that saw the former crowned champion of the 160-pound
class by a shade.

cision over Bob Judd, Portland 150-

Smaller Ball For Cricket Advocated
By Yorkshire Head

Lord Hawke, President of Club, Speaks on Many Very Important Questions

Younger Players Need Encouragement; Wickets Are Prepared Too Much

London, April 28.—Many pointed criticisms concerning test matches were made by Lord Hawke, president of the Yorkshire Country Club, in a speech made at the annual meeting at Leeds. He contended that the extension of time for test games appeared to be inevitable, but thought that the strongest ground of objection for any extension in this country was the general effect of the games.
"No doubt six days' cricket may be suitable in Australia, because of the comparatively amiable conditions and the comparative smallness of first-class matches," he added, "but there is no comparison with the conditions prevailing here and those existing in Australia. Those who would subordinate all matches to the tests have already gone so far as to endanger the turning test cricket into a fiasco."

SMALLER BALL

Referring to England's part in future tests, his lordship stated: "We had seriously to ask ourselves 'Was it well that the veterans of the game should have been the chief factors in this victory?' It was up to England to give encouragement in the forthcoming trial matches to the younger players." He thought that the general desire for a smaller ball was sound in every respect. It would enable a bowler to get a better grip and impart more finger strength. Personally, he would go a little further and allow a new ball to be used after each hundred runs. Another important matter was the undue preparation of wickets. He favored the natural grass wicket, but it was a difficult problem, which could only be met, in his opinion, by instruction by the counties in the use of mair. His lordship, speaking of the proposed engagement of Ponsford by the Blackpool club, observed, "It is a great pity that monetary considerations should be brought forward to take him away from his country, and from international cricket, for that is what it means to a player who has taunted in this country. My sympathies are entirely with Australia, who are apparently trying to raise a large sum of money to keep this man at home."

Mr. Hanow of New York and Joe
Goddard, Minneapolis, put up a fine
sling exhibition that saw the former
crowned champion of the 160-pound
class by a shade.

better than third.

Aurora with Glenister II and Theo

HE ALWAYS WINS

Even though his wonderful
team, the Canadiens, may not always win the championship, Dandurand always stands to win financially. His team is so colorful that it always pulls the fans. During the twenty-two home games this year
Dandurand's team played before 162,741 spectators, which, figured at an average of one dollar a head, shows just how much Dandurand took in during the season.

Through the fact that his team is managed by Cecil Hart, Dandurand does not appear in the limelight very much, but just the same his shrewd brain is working behind the scenes. Dandurand used to play hockey. He is

LAILA

A Tale of the Days of Christ, by John Newport
(Copyright, 1926, by Eugene MacLean)

"A good thought," Antonius said, "and clever. But they will need long drilling."

"And that is why I need you to come," said Omar.

Antonius forehead was corrugated in thought. "It would be easier, would it not, to send spies into the land, to learn where this new king is to be found? There would be report of him, among the Jews."

"I have myself been the length and breadth of the land," said Omar, gloomily. "I have sought for a mighty man of war among them! Yet the prophesy, I know, is true. A new King walks the earth even now, unrecognized."

"His chief dropped upon his breast. Arms folded, downcast lids veiling his brilliant black eyes, he pondered before he spoke again, more to himself than to Antonius. "Herod the king slew all the babes in Bethlehem, three score years ago—our army must take other measures, for Herod failed."

Suddenly he glanced up, his eyes sparkling with merriment. "But whether we succeed or fail, there will be much to be learned," he said. "Plunder, riches, rich foods and raiment, and the Tetrarch's wine—eh, Antonius? And when you are a general, you may rule in Jerusalem perhaps, in place of Caesar's envoy!"

"I shall not fight against Caesar, nor Caesar's envoy," said Antonius, stubbornly. "But send me against this Herod Antipater, provided no Roman troops are in his train."

Omar stepped over and patted him on the shoulder. "Bravely spoken," he said. "You have accepted again my offer."

His hand dipped beneath his robe, and he drew forth the huge emerald that the soldier had seen before. "Yours, soldier—when you have done my bidding."

Antonius moved, to ease his back. "But now," he said, "some money would help more—though I want the emerald," he hastened to add.

"You shall be provided," Omar said, moving toward the door. "Await the next comer to the inn—and use your opportunity."

He was gone. Antonius felt ruefully at his waist, where once his money belt had been. Then, drawing himself forward, carefully, he set about collecting the victims that Laila had brought, and that had been kicked around the room in his fight with the Arabians. Back at the doorway again, he ate hungrily, washing down the dry food with wine from the jar that the tribesman had brought his chief.

After this, he watched the street expectantly, awaiting the visitor that Omar had promised.

It was nearing nightfall before his vigil was rewarded.

"Ezra!" he cried.

The plump little elder entered the room, and cautiously closed the door. "No one was looking, so I entered," he explained.

He rubbed his hands, and looked about him uncertainly.

"Herod passed through the village with his court," he began.

"I know—what of it?" responded Antonius.

"The elder squatted on his heels, at the soldier's side.

"He sleeps to-night at Engannim, the village just to the south," Ezra went on. "His face was drawn with anxiety. 'But he has left commissioners, who are going from house to house, making certain inquiries.'"

He arose, stole to the door, opened it, and looked up and down the street. Apparently satisfied, he barred the door again, and returned.

"They are asking, first, what part Jared had in the Arabian raid, when you were carried off," he resumed. "Next, they demand to know where Jared is now, and his wife, and daughter, and their servants. It appears that a certain money-lender, and the prison-keeper, already have been executed for settling Jared free."

He looked with anxious significance into the soldier's eyes. "These commissioners want to know who repaid the money-lender, the worse he did not know—he said it was a servant."

"It was your servant," Antonius said. "I handed him the money myself."

Ezra placed his hands on the soldier's arm. "Can you forget that—if they should come to ask you?"

Antonius did not answer, but countered with a question of his own. "Are they asking after Laila?"

"Yes—and it has been thought best that Aaron should flee to the hills, for they asked also after him. But, soldier—if the commissioners come to you, can you forget everything? The Tetrarch is very wrath, for his men discovered three Arabiens, hiding behind the inn, though wounded, and he believes a great plot is hatching against him."

"I wounded the Arabians myself," said Antonius, complacently.

"You?"

"With this sword here, and my dagger," said the soldier, displaying his weapons. "It was an excellent piece of work."

His face contracted, and his hand unconsciously strayed to the spot where once his hoard of gold and silver had rested.

"What will you pay, Ezra, if I keep silent?" he demanded.

CHAPTER XXXV

"The elder eagerly reached into his robe, and drew forth a purse. He emptied it on Antonius' lap, and said: 'Three pieces of silver, and all this copper!'"

Antonius pushed the money off onto the floor. "I am tired of talking. Leave me, so I can sleep," he said, turning his head away.

"But you will not say anything, if Herod's commissioners come?" persisted Ezra.

"Ho!" responded Antonius. "I shall tell them all I know."

"But the money—just for silence?"

Slowly Antonius moved his head, and fixed Ezra with a glare. "Silence! For those poor little pieces of silver?"

"But I will pay more," the elder pleaded. "I will even give gold—one piece of gold!"

"Five pieces," replied Antonius. "I shall tell all about your journey in aid of Jared, and about how your servant ransomed the prisoner, and—"

"You will ruin me!" The little elder threw his mantle over his head, and rocked from side to side.

"Five pieces of gold!" His voice came muffled through the thick wool of his robe.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Robin's Egg

(Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate).

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Well, my dear Boppy and Um," said Uncle Wiggily to the little wooden man and woman in the bungalow one morning. "I shall not be living with you much longer. I must go back to my own bungalow and my wife, Nurse Jane and the forty-seven little bunnies."

"We shall be sorry to have you leave us," remarked Boppy.

"And we hope you will often come to see us," added Um.

"Oh, of course I shall!" answered the rabbit uncle. "But you two have learned how to unscramble you Woggielegs now, so, really, you don't need me here after the first of May."

You see Uncle Wiggily had gone to visit Boppy and Um in their bungalow to help the little wooden man and woman unscramble the Woggielegs. For the Woggielegs, being made of wood, were always changing tails, legs, heads, necks and different parts of themselves. They would let Wumpie take her head and he would take hers. Such a scrambled time as there was.

"But now you know how to unscramble them," said Uncle Wiggily as he made ready to hop off and look for an adventure.

"Thanks to you, we do, yes," said Boppy. "And I hope you will."

He went on as he bounced up and down the road.

"Maggie won't let jiggs out an my whiskers are in his room. This is a fine mess—what's all this?"

"There is such a funny egg in my nest!"

In the air to look over the top of a currant bush in the front yard, "I have an idea that some of our Woggielegs are off in the woods now, all scrambled up," he told Um.

"Oh, do you think so?" asked Um who was rolling around and around on a bunch of dough crust flattening it out to make a pie. Being without arms and legs, Boppy and Um had to bob up and down and roll themselves around when they wanted to do anything.

"I am sure Daxie, Mazie and the others are playing the scramble game in the woods instead of going on to school," said Boppy.

"I'll take a look," offered Uncle Wiggily. "I am going to the woods to find an adventure—if I see the Woggielegs there I shall send them on to the Lady Mouse Teacher."

"How we shall miss you when you go back home!" sighed Um as she bopped up and down on the pie crust to flatten it out.

"I shall often come over to see you," promised the bunny rabbit. So he hopped to the woods, and he was no sooner beneath the trees on which the new green leaves were beginning to show than he saw the six Woggieleg children playing the scramble game.

"Oh, here comes Uncle Wiggily!" cried Wumpie, snatching his yellow head from red Dimple who had it on his neck.

"We had better run to school!" shouted Mazie, taking her light blue tail from Dimple, who had given her his green one.

Then, before Mr. Longears could hop to the dingy dell, where the Woggielegs were playing instead of going to the Hallow Stump School, all of a sudden the little wooden children ran off, not wanting to be scolded or to be late at class, for the Lady Mouse Teacher might keep them in.

"Well, I nearly caught them!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily as he hopped over the green grass. "But they got away—that is, all but one!" he added as he saw one Woggieleg child still in the dingy dell. It was a dark blue

Woggieleg, and by that color Uncle Wiggily knew it was Daxie.

"But, where is your head, Daxie?" asked the bunny, for the little wooden girl had none. There she stood without a head, though she had her neck, her four legs and her tail, all complete. "Dear me!" sighed Mr. Longears. "Some of the other Woggielegs must have run on to school with Daxie's head. This comes of playing the scramble game! But walk along with me, Daxie," he said to the little Woggieleg girl without head. "I'll lead you to school and there we will get your head."

Daxie did not answer. How could she without her head? But over in a low tree a Robin bird suddenly began to flutter her wings and she chirped in alarm, so Uncle Wiggily asked what was the matter.

"There's such a funny egg in my nest!" chirped the Robin. "It isn't exactly the color of my other eggs and it keeps rolling about under my feathers. I wish you would look at it, Uncle Wiggily."

When the bunny looked in, the Robin's nest as she flew off it, he saw, amid her own blue eggs, the round, dark blue, missing head of Daxie Woggieleg. And the head was rolling about under her feathers.

"Why, her's Daxie's head!" cried the bunny. "Daxie's head is in the Robin's nest, like an egg." And then Daxie opened her eyes and hunched as she said:

"I hid my head in the nest to fool Dimple. Then I fell asleep, I guess, and the Robin covered me with her wings, thinking my head was an egg. But, where are my brothers and sisters?" Uncle Wiggily told Daxie they had gone to school, and when Daxie had put her head back in place she hurried on to her classes, and all was well.

So, if the puppy dog doesn't brush all the red paint off the jumping jack with his wagging tail, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the frightened Fox.

Man Walks 4 Blocks, Gas Stops Him

"I had gas so bad that I could not walk four blocks without lying down. After taking two bottles of Adlerika, I am entirely relieved. I cannot recommend this wonderful medicine too highly."—Leo Boness.

Because Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, it gives the system a REAL cleansing and clears out old poisons which usually cause sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. Just ONE spoonful stops GAS, and relieves that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never guessed was in your system and which may have long caused trouble. No matter what you have tried for stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In Victoria at David Spencer's and other druggists. (Advt.)

TRADITIONS AND IDEALS MAINTAIN ENGLISH SPIRIT

Rev. R. W. Lee Speaks at Anniversary of St. George and Shakespeare

Fine Attendance at Annual Banquet

Centuries of great ideals; centuries of great traditions; and centuries of great achievements are the foundation for the English race, and we should carry this spirit into the Dominion of Canada and seek to make Canada a real part of the British Empire," said Rev. R. W. Lee, president of the Victoria Branch of the Royal Society of St. George, during the course of a toast to England at the St. George's Day and Shakespeare anniversary banquet held by the society at the Chamber of Commerce last night.

With the immortal sentence of Shakespeare himself, "This blessed spot, this earth, this realm, this England, this dear, dear land," around which to fashion his address, the Rev. Mr. Lee gave a spirited and enthusiastic talk on the beauties, advantages and ideals of the Motherland.

"We are members of a noble race and we still are a wonderful affection for our Motherland," he said, expressing the sentiment of the banquet.

RURAL BEAUTY

England is beloved by her countrymen for her great rural beauty—the rustic hamlets and watering places, thoughts of which induce homesickness, said the speaker. The waves of the sea, too, bring back memories.

"To those who have lived in the far and home of England, the rippling sea waves send forth a melody," he said.

The speaker mentioned the great and beautiful city of the Old Land and their magnificent structures.

"We find in the historical and traditional relationship of these buildings the thought that the English have loved and fought for freedom," he said.

The shipyards of England have built the great vessels which have carried human life and commerce to distant parts of the globe and also the great war vessels which have been bulwarks of the Empire. There are the great mills and factories, making roads for shipments to all parts of the world, which have made England the greatest manufacturing country, he said.

HOME LIFE

"No one can make a full reference to England in history without mentioning her home life," the speaker continued. "English homes are the homes from which real men have come and carried the name of the Empire to far flung Dominions."

The speaker then referred to the religious impulse which, he said, is great in England. "England at heart is a good," he said. "At heart, she realises the activity of the Divine."

HOUR OF NEED

In the hour of crisis, in the hour of need, the English spirit comes forth, he said. "We are proud to be called the bulldog breed. When England's men are fighting with their backs to the wall, great characteristics of their nature are revealed."

Although she has been referred to as a "nation of shopkeepers," there is still a great open heartedness about her which makes her rejoice in helping others. With this is coupled the freedom of speech which an Englishman enjoys. "England would be no place for Mussolini, for he could not bridge the tongue of an Englishman," the speaker concluded.

Ira Dilworth, M.A., principal of Victoria High School, proposed the toast in memory of the great English poet, William Shakespeare, and other illustrious Englishmen and Englishwomen.

FOR ALL TIME

The greatest trait of Shakespeare was the fact that he wrote not for any time, but for all time and not for any race but for all races, said Mr. Dilworth.

"Shakespeare was the greatest spokesman of humanity. He had greater power to see and interpret human nature than possibly anyone since him and certainly no one since his time," the speaker declared.

Mr. Dilworth mentioned the doubt which exists in some minds as to whether or not Shakespeare was the author of "Shakespeare's Works." It is something like the case of the little boy who stated "Homer did not write the Odyssey," he was written by another man of the same name."

The suggestion that Bacon wrote them is a literary impossibility and besides there are records of Shakespeare's birth, death, ownership of property and his will to prove that he was indeed an actuality.

"The greatest tribute I can pay is that when I am tired of being an ordinary, rather drab, uninteresting twentieth century Canadian, one of the surest avenue of escape from myself is through the magic door which opens upon the world of William Shakespeare," he said.

TRUE AND PROFOUND

In Shakespeare there is a complexity and a variety which tantalizes the mind. His works are true and profound as life itself and yet are refined, sublimated, concentrated, raised to the height of nobility and majesty by genius which we cannot equal in modern drama."

There is matchless comedy in Shakespeare. Mr. Dilworth continued. Low comedy, horseplay and high refined humor. There is the deepest tragedy and blackest despair. There is in his works the "Law of Righteousness" which makes them true to life and which makes them just as enjoyable to us to-day as when he wrote them.

MORALS

Morals in Shakespeare are not worked by saying "do not do this, do not do that," but by following men through entanglements of the web of life showing that as he rears, so he sows. Death holds no great terror in his world—it is the law of life.

Following the toast to the immortal memory of Shakespeare a silent

LEE, PARSONS & CO.

1222 Broad Street

John Oliver and Hon. W. J. Bowser, K.C., the toast to "Our Honored Guests" was proposed by the chairman.

Mr. Bowser responded to the toast, stating how he had found great solace in the works of Shakespeare. Hamlet's soliloquy with its "To be or not to be" has comforted me many times during a hard campaign, he said.

TAKE WORD OF DOWNING STREET

Mr. Bowser referred to England's actions in different parts of the world, to her handling of 200,000,000 people in India, something which could not have been done by any other nation; to the development of Singapore as a naval base, and to her front with regard to the Chinese situation.

"I am a good enough Englishman to take the word of Downing Street to the policy of the country," he said.

K. C. Symons proposed the toast to the ladies and this was replied to by Mrs. Lovatt.

During the evening a splendid programme was presented by high-class artists. The boy choristers from St. George's-on-the-Hill School at Nanaimo won great applause. Master W. Breakston gave a fine rendering of "The Trumpeter" as a solo and was applauded to the echo. Other numbers included: "Tenor and Baritone" by Bob Frith and W. H. Jaques; "When Cecilia Sings" by Mrs. Arthur Dowell; dramatic reading, "Mark Anthony's Oration from Julius Caesar" by Captain Wilfrid Ord; "The Dawn" by W. H. Jaques; recitation, "Home Thoughts From Abroad" (Robert Browning) by Miss Ruth Hayman; "The Lady of the Lake" by Mrs. Georgina Watt; "Shipmates or Mine" by Bob Frith; "Macusha" by Frank H. Tupman. Edward Parsons and Mrs. Harry Langley acted as accompanists.

NEED FOR SACRIFICE

Today there is need for sacrifices such as those of St. George, said Dr. Davies.

Proposing the toast to the army, navy and air force, Col. C. W. Peck, M.P.P., V.C., said he would follow the rule of the forces in deeds not words in his proposal, saying:

"I propose a toast to the warriors of the past, present and future of the great enlightened Empire upon which the sun never sets."

James Buckle
Woodstock, Ont.—Any one who suffers with kidney trouble will find Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets the very best medicine they can take. I was having all kinds of trouble with my kidneys; they did not act, there was sediment in the urine, my limbs would swell like one with the dropsy. I took Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and they have entirely relieved me of all my kidney trouble, cleared up the urine and I have never had any more trouble with my limbs swelling. I am feeling better and more active than I had been for a long time previous to taking the 'Anuric'. It seems to get right to the seat of the trouble and remove the cause.
